

Ludlow MUSEUM
 at The Buttercross
 Enquiries: 01584 878697
 townclerk@ludlow.gov.uk
 Opening times: www.ludlow.gov.uk
 Advert sponsored by Friends of Ludlow Museum
 www.friends-of-ludlow-museum.com

Ludlow Museum

at the Buttercross

Selection of fossils found locally.

Bromfield urns/axes

Pommel, ring and other hoards

Hickman story

Chasuble Arms and armour.

Bitterley Hoard

The historic Buttercross was built in 1743-46 on the site of the High Cross, which was the official centre of the town. The museum enjoys fabulous views along the listed buildings of Broad Street to the countryside beyond. The Buttercross exhibits include fossils from Ludlow's unique geology depicted in the Murchison section; the prehistory of Ludlow area and Bromfield; the Bitterley Hoard, pommel, ring and other hoards; artefacts from Ludlow Church and Medieval Castle; Georgian Ludlow including the Market Hall & professions and trades; and exhibits depicting Ludlow at war and peace.

Listen to Historical characters and travel through time by delving into Ludlow's past. Experience the fabulous view along Broad Street through the window of the Museum. Ludlow's historic heritage unfolding before your eyes.

Enquiries: 01584 878697

Original artwork to be produced of Castle with cut aways to reveal inner rooms.

Market Halls and people

Audio of local soldiers.

Items relating to the Buttercross